

RESILIENCE REVEALED

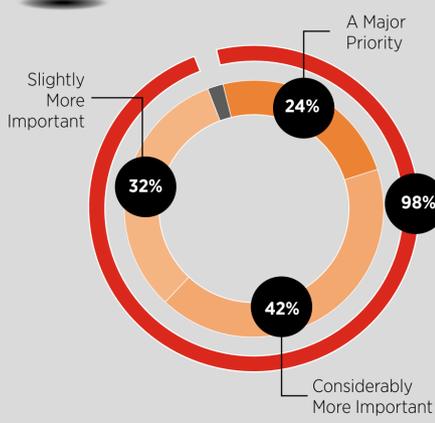

PREVIEW THE TOP 5 FINDINGS IN RESILIENCE RESEARCH

A new study sheds light on how organizations approach and achieve resilience

It's no secret that IT resilience is essential to business resilience: The ability to anticipate risk, mitigate the impact and adapt to unforeseen change. But how you achieve resilience might not be so apparent.

Knowing what other organizations are doing about resilience and where they are in the process—in the dark or in the know—can help spotlight the next steps in leading your own resilience initiatives. Here's a "Top 5" peek into the findings, including responses from more than 400 business leaders across the US and Europe.

1 RESILIENCE IS A TOP PRIORITY

told us the importance of resilience increased over the past two years.

66% said resilience is a major priority (24%) or considerably more important (42%) than 2 years ago.
