

SERVICED WORKPLACE FROM SUNGARD AVAILABILITY SERVICES

As we emerge from the depths of this pandemic, organisations across the globe are re-evaluating the way they work. Will more staff work from home; will office locations be closed—and what are the implications for business continuity? While many speculate about the future of remote work, recent research conducted by IDC suggests that a blended approach—defined by a mixture of on-site and remote working may become the new norm.*

Whatever the reality, the future we face is fraught with uncertainty. Organisations in the post-pandemic world need office space that is flexible, resilient and secure. That's why Sungard AS is introducing Serviced Workplace: a service, requiring no invocation, that delivers the flexibility organisations today require.

Full-time, serviced office space from strategic locations across Europe

With full-time access to our robust, secure and resilient facilities across Europe, you'll gain the flexibility you need to navigate the business challenges of the post-pandemic world. With weekly facilities support included, you'll be freed from the burden of day-to-day hassles — allowing you to get on, and get ahead. Moreover, with included access rights to any of our European facilities, your workforce will have the ability to work, rest and recover across multiple geographies.
