

SERVICED WORKPLACE FROM SUNGARD AVAILABILITY SERVICES

As we learn to adjust to the realities of the pandemic, organizations across the globe are re-evaluating the way they work. More staff are working from home, and for longer; office locations are closing, and city centers remain quiet. With several months of mass remote work behind us, and many more to come, it's clear that traditional commercial real estate will face significant disruption.

Whatever the reality, the future we face is fraught with uncertainty. Organizations in the post-pandemic world need office space that is flexible, resilient and secure. That's why Sungard AS is introducing Serviced Workspace: full time, always available space for your workforce from our network of resilient facilities.

Serviced Workplace from Sungard AS offers full-time, serviced office space from strategic locations across North America.

With access to your own reserved space in one of our hardened, resilient facilities, you and your business are released from the rigidity of traditional commercial leases.

No longer will your workforce be burdened with the everyday hassles of facilities and real estate management: with Serviced Workplace, we do this for you, freeing you to focus on driving your business forward. And combined with our market-leading business continuity and recovery portfolio, we can become your trusted partner for not just your day-to-day operational needs, but also when disaster strikes.

The service will be offered at select Sungard AS recovery centers across North America.
